

Fiddle Fire is a specialty catering company that is built around the historical preservation of a 1906 Peter Schuttler chuckwagon, and the fiddling style of its trail boss and champion fiddle player, Dottie "Way Out West" Douthit...

Fiddle Fire Catering (& chuckwagon cooking) caters and entertains for all types of indoor and outdoor events. Our specialty is cooking your meal over wood fires using cast iron cookware, if that makes you happy!

You can find us at 1103 South Oakes Street, 2 blocks South of Fort Concho National Historic Landmark in San Angelo, Texas. Our dining hall and camp is located in (the 100 yr. old) Fire Station #4, a property we have renovated for use as a commercial workspace and chuckwagon cooking camp.

Because Fiddle Fire is headquartered on the Goodnight-Loving Trail, we cook for parties, reunions, weddings and conventions on historically acclaimed ranches, in Texas State Parks, and on local landmarks, such as our beloved Fort Concho (National Historic Landmark). For a group breakfast at the wagon, you and your guests can expect

- ⇒ a professional onsite food and beverage service (we get up with the chickens and get the coffee started...)
- ⇒ a little history, a little culture, and lots of flavor! (we use traditional recipes and create a true dining experience)

Fiddle Fire Chuckwagon's Cowboy Breakfast includes

- a hot, hearty breakfast meal (a priced per-plate portion)
- food and beverage service (about 15% of the meal price)
- a chuck wagon campfire (fees apply)
- and a little musical collaboration (fees apply)
